During your request for services we may need to contact or share information with other professionals involved in your care.

Dog Guides Canada respects your privacy. We protect your personal information and adhere to all legislative requirements in protecting privacy. We do not rent, sell or trade our mailing lists. We use your personal information to provide services to keep you informed and up-to-date on our activities. Responsibilities and expectations

Dog Guides Canada has a code of conduct which sets out the standards of behaviour we expect from our staff. We also expect a similar level of courtesy from clients and have put together a short list of examples to demonstrate these standards.

- Mutual respect and courtesy
- Commitment and cooperation
- Patience and understanding, particularly when progress is slow and/or difficult
- Behaviour which is neither abusive nor threatening
- Behaviour which is tolerant and non-discriminatory

It is the responsibility of all clients and staff to report any failure to comply with this code of conduct. All such complaints will be viewed seriously and could result in either internal disciplinary action or the withdrawal of services.

PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE SIGNING

There are legal, moral and financial obligations involved with having a Dog Guide. Dog Guide teams are "ambassadors" who, through their actions, allow people to accept and welcome the presence of Dog Guides in public places. Your Dog Guide, as your partner and extension of your being, must work well, be well-behaved, well groomed and healthy.

Dog Guides are very special canines but they are still dogs. They must be cared for daily. They require relief several times daily in all kinds of weather and these relief areas must be cleaned immediately. They require time and effort daily for food and water, warmth, grooming, obedience training, skill training, play, and work.

Dog Guides incur expenses – e.g. feeding, annual vaccinations, medical tests as advised and twice yearly check-ups by a veterinarian. Veterinarian visits could be more often should a condition or illness warrant a professional. Check with a veterinary clinic in your area to determine costs and expenses you can expect for routine and emergency visits.

Dog Guides require a commitment in return for all the wonderful, new and exciting experiences that you will experience as a team. Dog Guides require basic respect, praise for a job well done, discipline, love and creature comforts to be well adjusted, loyal, responsible, willing and healthy to lead you to untold freedom and independence.

From the time that we receive your application, all information will be kept confidential. As the applicant, you should understand that due to limited resources Dogs Guides Canada will prioritize applicants and acceptance will be based on a review by the Dogs Guides Canada Application Committee. If in our assessment any of the information supplied on the application inaccurately represents your ability to care for and use the services of a Dog Guide, Dogs Guides Canada has the absolute discretion to cancel this agreement and any future agreements.

You are further advised that if accepted into the program, the training may be terminated at any point if it is felt that it affects the health and safety of the applicant.

You are further advised that Dogs Guides Canada assumes no liability in case of accident during the training program, upon graduation or during the time you are a working Dog Guide team.

During your stay in residence at the training centre, the student and the Dog Guide train together and begin to establish the bond that is necessary for a team to succeed. A good year of adjustment can be expected before the client and Dog Guide work together as a team.

Mandatory follow-up contact and communication between the graduate and Dogs Guides Canada training staff are maintained to ensure ongoing success. Dog Guide and obedience training must be maintained throughout the dog's working career.

All family members must obey instructions given by the trainer as to their contact with the Dog Guide and its management. Failure to follow instructions may result in the dog being returned to the training centre. It must be understood that a Dog Guide is a working dog, not a pet. Children and other people are not to interfere when the dog is in harness.

Our dogs are not trained to be guard dogs or attack dogs.

A Dog Guide is a valuable, trained dog and is not allowed to run loose. The dog must always be on leash.

Having a Dog Guide is a legal, moral and financial commitment for the life of the dog, about 10-12 years. Careful consideration must be given before accepting the responsibilities of a Dog Guide.

Dogs Guides Canada remains the legal owner of the Dog Guide. If proper procedure is not followed, Dog Guides Canada has the right to remove the dog.

By signing below, I agree that Dog Guides Canada may disclose my personal information (including health details) to assist in assessing and formulating a service delivery plan for me. I am obliged to contact Dog Guides Canada and inform them if there are any changes in my personal circumstances. I have completed the above application with the correct information and I understand that any false information or omission of information may delay and/or void my application and I have read and agree to the information listed in the
